The education staff at the JCNHS is committed to sharing the life and legacy of Georgia’s own President, Jimmy Carter, with every student in Georgia. Our goal is to offer accessible learning opportunities for all students regardless of their location, from the mountains to the coast. If distance is a deterrent for your students to visit the Historic Site, we would love to come to you!

We offer two options for distance learning:

1. If your school is within 75 miles of the historic site, an education staff member will come to your classroom as a guest speaker. We will bring standards based activities to complement the curriculum in your classroom, utilizing primary sources from the JCNHS museum archives. Programs are available for Kindergarten-High School students.

2. Through the magic of technology, we can come into your classroom virtually. An education staff member will Skype with your class offering a personalized walking tour of the museum. Students will have the opportunity to interact with staff members asking questions as the tour progresses.
